Prior probability distributions used for parameter estimation during fitting of oxygen respiration data